Product Description

This product does not set the switch button, the control module and the battery module automatically detects the charge and discharge after connection.

Power: The power will be automatically displayed after the control module and battery module are disconnected for 3 to 5 seconds and connected or inserted into the data cable.

Safety: This product has a number of protection designs, which can easily cope with a variety of abnormal situations such as overcharge, overdischarge and short circuit, providing reliable protection for rechargeable batteries and digital devices.

Compatible: Built-in intelligent charge controller, compatible with mainstream cell phones and digital devices.

Quality: High quality lithium-ion battery and charge/discharge chip.

This product is equipped with a built-in adaptive management chip, which automatically enters learning mode upon first use. After three full charge-discharge cycles, the chip will deeply record battery characteristics and intelligently optimize charge and discharge strategies — the longer it is used, the more precise the management becomes.

Note: Occasional phenomena such as early power-off or incomplete discharge during use are normal and not product malfunctions.
